Billy 101 is a game made by a robot. That's right, a robot who is bored of his job, in a robot factory, on the robot assembly lines. This robot is tired of the routines he is having to follow, and he decided to destroy everything to make his own choices. He'll blow up everything and anyone who stand in his way, and he's going to be the one to decide what happens in the end. He'll need to blow up the robots, bosses, traps, and things in his way as he's about to destroy the factory, but the choice, the result, and what happens at the end are all up to you. Your choices will send the players through 6 different worlds and 30 hand-crafted levels, all with a different theme. Each level has a different goal and a different way of sending you through the level. The worlds have items to find and enemies to blow up, so you'll need to be careful when you're going through each level. The robot will help you to figure out how to deal with each situation and place, guiding you through the level and alerting you of the appropriate reactions to make. At the end, before you defeat the boss, you can decide the outcome of the whole experience, deciding what happens at the factory and how Billy will resolve the situation. Upgrades: Find and collect the gear, don't get stuck in this game. You'll unlock upgrades while you play, so be on the lookout for them. Don't be afraid to use your own items, the upgrades are different in each world. Bosses: Billy is used to working on robot assembly lines, so when bosses try to challenge him, he'll be prepared for a fight. Attacks and responses: Billy is always prepared for anything, but don't be afraid to use his arm. That robotic arm is just waiting to take things apart. Catch the right moment and you'll blow up the boss. It might take you a few tries, but Billy will keep on trying to help you as your level gets harder. The Bosses: The Bosses are here to test your skills, Billy is ready for a battle! There are 6 boss levels, each one harder than the last, and you must protect Billy from their attacks while being on your way to blow them up.

What's new:

(Handgun) A lightweight, semi-automatic, handgun designed for concealed carry. It has a 16 inch barrel with plain black fluting. It is packed in an ambidextrous, stow-away holster that isn't designed to allow for quick draw, but folds quickly and easily into a tube that hides the entirety of the handgun in its holster—in fact, it is quite large. The TE is chambered in .380 ACP and uses a unique match-grade 1911-style semi-automatic grip frame that allows the user to adjust trigger pull, slide ramp, and extractor pull. The TE is a counter-type with a 2-inch barrel extension (foldable, removable by unscrewing the barrel cap), meaning the weapon's overall length is 17 inches, taking up five-and-a-half slots in a typical magazine of twelve rounds. The TE fits in either a stiff-side pocket, standard soft-side holster, or pancake holster. Like all the other lightweight handguns in the catalog, the TE is a "legally concealed weapon". At roughly 7 pounds, the TE is one of the lightest guns on the market. In testing against a variety of large and small magazines, it was bested in reliability by the Armalite XP-100 (a police pistol), and far ahead of its closest competitors. The TE features a full-blowback system, operated by a locking system located in the left side of the slide. When the trigger is pulled, a cross-bolt moves across the frame, pinning the locking system down, and ejecting the round. (Since the TP and TPXFN variants have a long-recoil buffer, the timing of the blowback is faster.) Like the Daphne's, the TE features a slimline, 45° grip safety. Like other guns in the catalog, the TE features a spring release, which makes reloading the weapon easy without gloves. (Although, like other guns in the catalog, the strength of the spring is sufficient that backup means like a single-action revolver are preferred.) There's a snap hook on the left side of the handle to make stowing the holster more secure, and it's very convenient with the pancake holster. To clear the gun of a round, depress the trigger while pushing the ejector down onto the magazine, which will cause the BEAR to rip the magazine out of the handle of the gun
